

Digitizing and georeferencing ecologically important Eastern Cape flowering plants

C. Peter, Rhodes University

The initial target is to digitize the first 835 species on the master list (most ecologically important species), approximately 25 133 specimens in the Selmar Schonland herbarium. Should the initial quota of species be completed within time, additional imaging of the remaining species will proceed.